

7 Best Ways to Deal with Rejection in Love

Someone somewhere is made for you; yes this line is absolutely true. As a human being either you are boy or girl God made perfect match for you. When we born in this planet then some relation automatically adds with our life as mother, father, uncle, aunty and other relation as cousin etc. But friendship & love are two things which you have to found; definitely these two things are precious, when whole world rejects you or does not support you then your friend holds your hand in trouble. Well, friendship is beautiful relationship but sometime this friendship turns into love and when you fall in love with someone then you feel luckiest person in this planet. You can